Shannon Price Minter

NATIONAL PUBLIC SERVICE AWARD RECIPIENT

Shannon Price Minter is the Legal Director of the National Center for Lesbian Rights (NCLR), one of the nation's leading advocacy organizations for lesbian, gay, bisexual, and transgender people.

Mr. Minter was lead counsel for same-sex couples in the marriage case recently decided by the California Supreme Court, which held that same-sex couples have the fundamental right to marry and that laws that discriminate based on sexual orientation are inherently discriminatory and subject to the highest level of constitutional scrutiny. Shannon was also NCLR's lead attorney on Sharon Smith's groundbreaking wrongful death suit and has litigated many other impact cases in California and across the country.

In 2005, Mr. Minter was one of 18 people to receive the Ford Foundation's "Leadership for a Changing World" award. In 2004, he was awarded an Honorary Degree from the City University of New York School of Law for his advocacy on behalf of same-sex couples and their families.

Mr. Minter has also received the Anderson Prize Foundation's Creating Change Award by the National Gay and Lesbian Task Force and the Distinguished National Service Award from GAYLAW, the bar association for LGBT lawyers, law students, and legal professionals in Washington, D.C., Cornell Law School's Exemplary Public Service Award, the Unity Award from Bay Area Lawyers for Individual Freedom, the Advocacy Award from the San Francisco Bar Association, and the Justice Award from Equality California.

Mr. Minter has authored numerous articles and books on LGBT legal issues, including Transgender Rights (University of Minnesota Press 2006) and Lesbian, Gay, Bisexual and Transgender Family Law (West Publishing 2008). He has taught as an adjunct or associate professor at Boalt, Stanford, Golden Gate, Santa Clara, and the University of San Francisco Schools of Law.

Mr. Minter serves on the American Bar Association Commission on Sexual Orientation and Gender Identity. He also serves on the boards of Equality California and the Transgender Law & Policy Institute.

Mr. Minter received his J.D. from Cornell Law School in 1993. He is originally from Texas.

Julia R. Wilson

INAUGURAL MILES L. RUBIN PUBLIC INTEREST AWARD RECIPIENT

Julia R. Wilson currently serves as the Executive Director of the Legal Aid Association of California (LAAC) and the Public Interest Clearinghouse (PIC). As Executive Director of the sister organizations, she is responsible for leading statewide advocacy efforts on behalf of the legal services delivery system, undertaking multiple statewide strategic planning initiatives, and serving as the legal services community's liaison to key access to justice partners.

Ms. Wilson graduated summa cum laude from the University of California at Los Angeles and with distinction from Stanford Law School. Before her work with LAAC and PIC, Ms. Wilson spent almost seven years at the Legal Aid Society of San Mateo County. Ms. Wilson first obtained funding to create her own direct legal services program, focusing on the timely intersection of national and local welfare reform and the Americans with Disabilities Act. She then received a prestigious national Equal Justice Works (then NAPIL) Fellowship to expand and continue the work of her project. Ms. Wilson later became the Legal Aid Society's first Pro Bono Coordinator and eventually also served as Directing Attorney, before being selected as the Director of the Legal Aid Association of California (LAAC). After almost three years of leading LAAC, she was tapped in 2007 to become the joint Executive Director of LAAC and its partner organization, the Public Interest Clearinghouse.

Ms. Wilson was also appointed to the State Bar of California's Standing Committee on the Delivery of Legal Services and is active in numerous statewide collaborations relevant to PIC and LAAC's work, including the Bench Bar Coalition and committees of the California Access to Justice Commission.

Miles L. Rubin

Miles L. Rubin, BA '50, JD '52, is the Chairman and Founder of Miles Electric Vehicles. In early 2004, concerned by growing environmental problems linked to micro-carbon emissions, Mr. Rubin set out to make a difference – by developing a line of safe, affordable, all electric vehicles that produce zero emissions.

Miles Electric Vehicles is a major achievement in a lifetime marked by business success, philanthropy and activism. Rubin graduated from Stanford University Law School in 1952 and practiced both trial and corporate law before entering business. He has remained active in the Law School, serving in the past as Chairman of its Board of Visitors, and together with his wife Nancy, a former U.S. Ambassador, established the Stanford Loan Repayment Fund for law graduates entering public service.

More recently, his wife, Nancy, and children, Jon, Kim, Richard, and Todd, established the new Miles Rubin Alumni Public Service Award to recognize a Stanford Law School alumnus who has demonstrated courage in challenging social inequity and promoting positive solutions for social change.

Mr. Rubin has served as chief executive of a number of public and private industrial corporations. During the 1970s, along with Paul Newman and others, he helped to create Energy Action, an advocacy group dedicated to American energy independence, and he continues to be active in organizations working for energy conservation.

He is also a member of the Advisory Board of the Peggy Guggenheim Collection, Italy, as well as a presidential appointee to the Board of Trustees of the Kennedy Center for Performing Arts.

LRAP Alumni

The Miles and Nancy Rubin Loan Repayment Assistance Program, known as LRAP, was established over 20 years ago with generous initial support by the Rubins, Kenneth and Harle Montgomery, and the Cummins Engine Foundation. LRAP provides critical loan relief to Stanford Law School graduates who pursue careers in public service and the nonprofit sectors.

Iron Horse is a family-owned Sonoma winery best known for its Sparkling Wines, which have been served at the White House since 1985, beginning with the historic U.S.-Russian Summit Meetings ending the Cold War, at the White House Millennium celebrations ushering in the 21st Century, and most recently at the White House dinner honoring the Pope.

Iron Horse has been named an American icon in a reference book published by Random House called "Icons of the American Market Place." Listed in alphabetical order, Iron Horse takes its place between iPod and Jack Daniel's, validating Iron Horse's reputation as a brand backed by pride, passion, and quality.

All the wine served at this dinner was generously provided by Audrey and Barry Sterling, JD '52, Iron Horse Vineyards.
