

Waseda University Law School: Tokyo, Japan (WLS)

a. General information

With a metropolitan-area population of roughly 35 million, Tokyo is one of the largest cities in the world. It is a thoroughly modern metropolis with high-speed trains and subways, soaring architectural icons of glass and steel, flashing anime imagery on colorful billboards, and vibrant shopping districts woven into its fabric. But Tokyo's rich history is never far away. One can easily retreat into a small temple courtyard, stroll down a narrow street lined with small homes and shops, or relax in a park under a stand of swaying bamboo.

In the year 2007, Waseda University celebrated the 125th anniversary of its founding by Shigenobu Okuma, scholar and government leader. Waseda is one of Japan's top private, co-educational institutions of higher learning. Founded as a college with three departments under the old Japanese system of higher education, it has since grown to become a comprehensive university with two senior high schools and a School of Art and Architecture.

Waseda's history has been colorfully interspersed with visits by great scholars, politicians, journalists and more, from all over the world. Holding true to founder Shigenobu Okuma's ideal of harmony between Eastern and Western civilizations, Waseda continues to provide intellectual stimulation to its academic community.

In terms of both size and quality, Waseda University's Law School may be said to be one of the leading professional law schools in all Japan. At present, it boasts more than 78 full-time faculty members; and if part-time lecturers are added to this figure, the total number of would exceed 160. There are more than 850 students studying for a J.D. degree. Its former students are now playing prominent roles in the academic and legal professions, as well as in global affairs.

b. The Exchange Program

WLS has concluded partnership arrangements with law schools in foreign countries to provide our students with opportunities to study abroad and prepare for the globalization of legal services. At this point, our partner law schools in addition to Stanford include Columbia University, Cornell University, Duke University, Fordham University School of Law, University of Illinois, University of Pennsylvania, University of Michigan, and the University of Washington in the United States, York University in Canada, National Taiwan University, the Judges and Prosecutors Training Institute in Taiwan, and Bucerius University in Germany. We are aiming to grow partnerships with other comparable law schools and legal training and research institutes around the world. Students at WLS are fortunate to have the opportunity to broaden their perspectives by interacting with exchange students from foreign institutions.

Appropriate methods of evaluation will be arranged in order to compensate missed classes in January.

d. Language of Instruction

Japanese, but with eight courses taught in English at WLS.

NOTE: It is possible to take Japanese language courses taught at the Center for Japanese Language, however, a placement test is required. More information can be found here: <http://www.waseda.jp/cjl/html/testschedule.html>

e. Eligible Courses

See section f.

f. English Language Courses

WLS courses are designed mainly for Japanese students who will pursue the professional career of law practice. Exchange students may find contents of these courses too specialized for their purpose of legal study abroad. If the instructor of a given law school course deems it more appropriate, the exchange student may be advised to take, in lieu of a law school course, a more general undergraduate course offered at the Faculty of Law or a graduate course with a focus on comparative legal studies offered at the Graduate School of Law.

Almost all courses of WLS are taught in Japanese. Given the fact that some exchange students want to take a few courses conducted in English, WLS plans offer eight courses of this kind in the fall semester of 2009. The tentative list of such courses is:

1. Human rights in Japan

7. International Trade Law
8. Pacific Settlement of International Disputes

g. Academic Requirements for Admission to the Exchange Program

Exchange students should be in good academic standing even though Waseda does not require a specific cumulative grade point average.

h. Standard Course Loads

WLS does not have a required course load for exchange students. The past exchange students, however, took as many courses as they can manage.

i. Course Enrollment and Registration

Exchange students are allowed to "shop around" for suitable courses during the first week of a semester, after which they are promptly required to register.

j. Grading System

The instructor of each course will use a method of evaluation appropriate for a given course and an exchange student. Methods may include a written examination, an oral examination, or a research paper of approximately 15 double-spaced pages for two credits. Either Japanese or English may be used. If an exchange student wishes to write a substantial research paper of more than 40 double-spaced pages for additional two credits, he/she may take a supervised writing course, "Independent Study Paper." This arrangement may be made through his/her faculty adviser with the consent of a supervising faculty member.

WLS will send official transcripts for fall semester courses by the end of February, and for spring semester courses by the end of August.

m. Housing information

Waseda University owns several private dormitories for exchange students and they are under control of the Student Affairs Section.

n. Visa/Immigration Information

Due to the regulations under the immigration law in Japan, a non-Japanese exchange student is required to enter Japan with a valid visa of "College Student." As soon as we receive it from the Tokyo Immigration Office in July, the student's "Certificate of Eligibility" will be forwarded to a student, who must then obtain a visa to attend Waseda University. This certificate needs to be submitted with a valid passport to a local Japanese Consulate for issuance of a visa. "Visa stamp" will usually be obtained within several weeks after application. Please be sure to secure a college student visa before departure.

It takes about four to eight weeks for WLS to receive the "Certificate of Eligibility" for each student from the Tokyo Immigration Office. Upon receiving the certificates, WLS will forward them to the program coordinator of the home institution by express and registered airmail. WLS expects to send these certificates in July under normal circumstances. The program coordinator is expected to maintain each student's summer mailing address so that the "Certificate of Eligibility" will reach the student without delay. The student may apply for a student visa at a Japanese Consulate only with a "Certificate of Eligibility" and a valid passport.

WLS strongly recommends that you enter Japan with the proper status of residence because people who enter Japan with a visa waiver status or a different status of residence have to leave Japan, and then re-enter with a college student visa. WLS cannot make any special visa arrangements for those planning to come to Japan earlier.

o. Fees

Students will pay their normal tuition to Stanford for the quarter during which they study at WLS.

p. Estimated Cost of Living

	Rent	Food and other living expenses	Books and miscellaneous fees	Medical fees*	Total
6 months	¥400,000	¥350,000	¥80,000	¥20,000	¥850,000
One year	¥800,000	¥700,000	¥150,000	¥40,000	¥1,690,000

*The amounts indicated are approximate fees in case students apply for the National Health Insurance Plan (Kokumin Kenkou Hoken) in Japan.

q. Health Insurance Requirements

College Student visa holders may be able to participate in the National Health Insurance Scheme of the Japanese Government if they stay in the country for six months or more. The insurance covers 70% of your medical charges. The monthly premium is about 700 yen for international students. For details, please see the following links on the Waseda website.

Those who plan to stay in Japan for less than six months should make other health insurance arrangements before leaving the U.S.
