

CONGRESS, THE PRESIDENTIAL RULEMAKING POWER
AND THE MEXICAN SUPREME COURT: A FAILED
ATTEMPT AT ELECTRICITY REFORM

A THESIS
SUBMITTED TO THE
STANFORD PROGRAM IN INTERNATIONAL LEGAL STUDIES AT THE STANFORD LAW SCHOOL,
STANFORD UNIVERSITY
IN PARTIAL REQUIREMENTS
FOR THE DEGREE OF
MASTER OF THE SCIENCE OF LAW

By

Arianna Sánchez-Galindo

May 2003

TABLE OF CONTENTS

I. INTRODUCTION

II. THE PRESIDENTIAL RULEMAKING POWER

Who is who? A principal-agent approach

Constitutional versus Congressional Delegation

III. THE SUPREME COURT AS VETO PLAYER

The New Composition of the Supreme Court

IV. A GAME OF IMPERFECT INFORMATION: PRESIDENT, CONGRESS, AND THE MEXICAN SUPREME COURT

The Activism of the Supreme Court

The Federal Regulations' Game

V. PRESIDENT FOX'S ATTEMPT AT ELECTRICITY REFORM

The "Revolutionary" Debate

The division within the Supreme Court

The Court's reasoning: testing the model

CONCLUSIONS

APPENDIX