Design Patents Conference
Academic Day
April 6, 2013

Manning Faculty Lounge, Stanford Law School

8:45 am   Registration and Breakfast

9:00 am   Session I, Papers 1-2

               Paper: Sarah Burstein, Oklahoma, "In Defense of Design Patents"
               Commentator: Paul Goldstein, Stanford

               Paper: Mark McKenna, Notre Dame & Kathy Strandburg, "Progress and Competition in Design"
               Commentator: Peter Menell, Berkeley

10:15 am   Break

10:45 am   Session II, Papers 3-4

               Paper: Michael Risch, Villanova, "The Law and Economics of Design Patent Protection for Graphical User Interfaces"
               Commentator: Mark Lemley, Stanford

               Paper: Jason Du Mont, Max Planck & Mark Janis, Indiana, "Virtual Designs"
               Commentator: David Abrams, Penn

12:15 am   Lunch

1:00 pm   Session III, Papers 5-6

               Paper: Andrew Torrance, Kansas, & William J. Seymour "(R)evolution in Design
                          Patent Subject Matter: The Shifting Meaning of 'Article of Manufacture'"
               Commentator: Sarah Wasserman Rajec, Stanford

               Paper: Laura Heymann, William & Mary, "The Doctrine of Election"
               Commentator: Graeme Dinwoodie, Oxford

2:15 pm   Break

2:45 pm   Session IV, Papers 7-8

                 Paper: Madhavi Sunder, Davis & Peter Lee, Davis, "The Law of Look and Feel"
                 Commentator: Tim Greene, Stanford

                 Paper: Gerard Magliocca, Indiana & Deven Desai, Thomas Jefferson, "3D Printing"
                 Commentator: Ryan Vacca, Akron

4:00 pm   Break

4:30 pm   Session V, Papers 9-10

                 Paper: Dennis Crouch, Missouri, "Developing a Taxonomy for Overlapping Rights"
                 Commentator: Andrew Gilden, Stanford

                 Paper: Mark Lemley, Stanford, "A Rational System of Design Patent Damages"
                 Commentator: Colleen Chien, Santa Clara

5:45 pm   Reception