A LEGAL PERSPECTIVE ON

PRIVATIZATION

IN AUSTRALIA

A THESIS

SUBMITTED TO THE

STANFORD PROGRAM IN INTERNATIONAL LEGAL STUDIES

AT THE STANFORD LAW SCHOOL,

STANFORD UNIVERSITY

IN PARTIAL FULFILLMENT OF THE REQUIREMENTS

FOR THE DEGREE OF

JURIDICAL SCIENCE MASTER

By

Daniel C.H. Mah

May 1999
ABSTRACT

Policy debates about privatization have been dominated by the economic and political perspectives. In contrast, the legal implications of privatization have received little attention. In this paper, I examine 5 common methods of privatization in Australia – (1) managerialism, (2) corporatization, (3) contracting out, (4) regulation by contract, and (5) sale of public assets – and provide a detailed account of the legal control issues that arise after privatization.

Privatization places stress on the traditional controls on government activity and, in some instances, completely alters the legal framework within which the privatized activity is carried out. However, blanket claims that the legal controls after privatization are inadequate cannot be sustained. The adequacy of the legal framework after privatization can only be judged having regard to the activity to be privatized and the environment in which the activity will be carried out. The legal controls after privatization might be inadequate in some, but not necessarily all circumstances. In this thesis, I attempt to identify the circumstances in which the legal controls might be inadequate.

With an understanding of the legal controls that apply after privatization, and the circumstances in which they might be inadequate, law and policy makers can then make better decisions about whether to privatize and, if so, whether to change the applicable legal controls.
TABLE OF CONTENTS

I. INTRODUCTION ........................................................................................................... 1

II. PRIVATIZATION IN AUSTRALIA ................................................................. 5
   1. A BROAD CONCEPT OF PRIVATIZATION .......................................................... 5
   2. FIVE METHODS OF PRIVATIZATION IN AUSTRALIA ....................................... 8
      (a) Managerialism .............................................................................................. 9
      (b) Corporatization ............................................................................................ 10
      (c) Contracting out ........................................................................................... 13
      (d) Regulation by contract ................................................................................ 15
      (e) Sale to the private sector ............................................................................ 17

III. PRIVATIZATION AND LEGAL CONTROL .................................................... 20
   1. MANAGERIALISM AND LEGAL CONTROL ................................................. 20
   2. CORPORATIZATION AND LEGAL CONTROL ............................................. 24
      (a) Legal limits on the creation of corporate forms ........................................... 25
      (b) Legal control of the activities of corporatized entities .................................. 27
      (c) Evaluating the legal controls after corporatization ....................................... 29
   3. CONTRACTING OUT AND LEGAL CONTROL ............................................ 30
      (a) Capacity to contract .................................................................................... 31
      (b) Legal control of the decision to contract and the tendering process .......... 32
      (c) Legal control of contract performance ....................................................... 35
      (d) Evaluating the legal controls after contracting out ....................................... 39
   4. REGULATION BY CONTRACT AND LEGAL CONTROL ................................. 40
      (a) Scope of government’s ability to regulate by contract ................................. 40
      (b) The stock exchange and TIO schemes – legal control issues ..................... 42
      (c) Evaluating the legal controls for regulation by contract ............................. 48
   5. SALE TO THE PRIVATE SECTOR AND LEGAL CONTROL ............................. 48

IV. SOME CONCLUSIONS AND LESSONS ......................................................... 51

V. REFERENCES ........................................................................................................... 54